

Focus On Professional Development Series Presents:
The Fair Labor Standards Act and Beyond –
Employee Compensation Issues, New Regulations,
Difficult Questions, Helpful Answers

The new FLSA regulations go into effect in December 2016. Although many districts have been preparing for this change, many questions remain to be answered as implementation goes forward. This program will provide practical legal guidance regarding how to comply with the regulations without running afoul of nondiscrimination law or placing the district in financial straits. We will also discuss other employee compensation issues that are potentially tricky, including salary schedules, extra duty contracts, and stipends. The program will be predicated on real world examples. Participants will be encouraged to bring their concerns and questions, collaborate with their peers and the presenters in examining options, and identify solutions that will work for a variety of districts.

Presenters:

Representatives of Tueth Keeney Cooper Mohan Jackstadt P.C.
